Step into the world of wonder—where every legend tells a tale!

- A myth is a traditional story that often explains how the world was created or why things happen in nature.
- Legends are stories based on real people or events from the past, though they often include magical or exaggerated details.
- Most legends feature a brave hero who must overcome a difficult challenge or complete a dangerous quest.
- Mythical creatures, such as giants, dragons, or talking animals, often play a big role in these magical adventures.
- These stories were originally told out loud, passed down from generation to generation by storytellers before they were ever written in books.

Did you know? Did you know? Many myths were created thousands of years ago to explain natural phenomena, like why the seasons change or how the stars formed, long before scientists like Nova the Owl could explain them!
