

World Book Day: Celebrating Pip the Bookworm

Learning objective: To understand the importance of reading and to recognize the joy of sharing stories.

Read the passage about Pip the bookworm and answer the questions below. Use the word bank for help where necessary.

Pip was a cheerful caterpillar who loved reading and collecting words. He would spend hours in his cozy den, surrounded by his favorite books. Pip's biggest joy was sharing his stories with his friends and family. By doing so, he learned new things and sparked the imagination of those around him. Pip believed that reading was the key to unlocking a world full of knowledge and wonder. Every day, he would tell a different story to his friends, and they would all listen with great interest. Pip's love for reading made him not only a better friend but also a better learner.

Word bank: enjoy · books · sharing · knowledge · imagination · words · reading

1. Why did Pip spend hours in his cozy den? (2 marks)

2. How did Pip share his stories? (1 mark)

3. What did Pip believe reading could do? (2 marks)

Draw: Draw Pip's cozy den where he keeps his books and write a short sentence about what is in it.

Extension challenge: Write a short story about your favorite book and how it made you feel.