

Celebrating Black History: Heroes and Trailblazers

Step into the story: Explore the past, celebrate the present, and build a brighter future together!

- Mary Seacole was a brave nurse who travelled to the Crimean War to care for soldiers. She used her own money to set up the 'British Hotel' to provide food and medicine for those in need.
- Walter Tull became the first Black officer to lead white British soldiers into battle during the First World War. He was also a professional footballer who played for Tottenham Hotspur.
- Olive Morris was a brilliant community leader in the 1970s. She worked hard to ensure that all children had access to fair housing and a good education in their local neighbourhoods.
- Dr Maggie Aderin-Pocock is a famous British space scientist who uses her expertise to teach children about the wonders of the stars and planets in our vast universe.
- Black History Month is not just about looking at the past; it is a time to honour the scientists, artists, and leaders of today who are working to make our world a kinder place.

Did you know? Did you know that Black History Month was first celebrated in the UK in 1987? It was organised by Akyaaba Addai-Sebo, who wanted to create a time for people to share and celebrate the often-untold history and achievements of Black people.
