

¡A Comer! - Rosa's Spanish Food Guide

Join Rosa the parrot on a delicious journey to discover Spanish flavours!

- To say you enjoy a food in Spanish, start your sentence with 'Me gusta'. Try saying 'Me gusta el queso' to tell your friends you like cheese!
- If you want to say you do not like something, simply add 'No' to the front: 'No me gusta el plátano'.
- Remember that in Spanish, nouns have a gender! Use 'el' for masculine words like 'el pan' and 'la' for feminine words like 'la manzana'.
- Rosa reminds us that 'agua' is the healthiest drink to have with your lunch.
- Practice makes perfect! Try pairing a food word with 'me gusta' or 'no me gusta' when you are in the school canteen.

Did you know? Did you know? In Spain, many families enjoy eating 'tapas', which are small portions of different foods served throughout the day so you can try a little bit of everything!
