- Many people believe the world is a special gift that we should look after with kindness.
- Creation stories help us understand why the sun, the moon, and the plants are so important.
- Some stories tell us that the world was made with love and care, just like a beautiful painting.
- Different families have different stories they like to share about how life began.
- Learning about these stories helps us respect what other people believe and value.

Did you know? Did you know that people all over the world tell special stories about how the earth, the sky, and the animals were created? These stories help us feel thankful for the trees we climb, the water we drink, and the stars Nova the owl watches at night!
