

Max's Magnificent Punctuation Guide

Tick-tock, let's unlock the code of the sentence with Max the Monkey!

- Every sentence must start with a capital letter to show it is beginning.
- A full stop (.) goes at the end of a sentence to show it is finished.
- Use a question mark (?) when you are asking someone for information.
- An exclamation mark (!) is used to show a strong feeling, like surprise or shouting.
- Punctuation helps the reader understand exactly what you are trying to say.

Did you know? Did you know? Before people used punctuation, sentences were just long strings of letters! Punctuation marks are like the road signs of reading—they tell you when to pause, stop, or show lots of excitement.

Key vocabulary: Capital letter · Full stop · Question mark · Exclamation mark · Sentence · Punctuation