

Mastering Invasion Games with Max the Monkey

Think fast, move together, and play fair – let's conquer the court!

- Attacking involves moving towards the opposition's goal area while using teamwork to keep possession of the ball or object.
- Defending requires players to track their opponents and intercept passes to win the ball back for their team.
- Creating space is essential; use the width and length of the pitch to make it harder for the defenders to mark you.
- Clear communication, such as calling for the ball or warning teammates of an approaching opponent, helps the team stay organised.
- Fair play is the most important rule; always show respect to your teammates, the opposition, and the referee.
- Tactics are the clever plans a team uses, like choosing when to pass quickly or when to dribble to find a gap in the defence.

Did you know? Did you know? Invasion games are played all over the world! The main goal is to enter the opponent's territory and score in their goal or target area, all while protecting your own space. Max the Monkey loves these games because every pass and movement is like solving a giant maths puzzle in real-time!
