

Kindness: The Superpower of Our Classroom

Be the reason someone smiles today! Let's grow a culture of kindness together.

- Kindness is an act of showing care and concern for others, helping everyone feel safe and valued in our school.
- Empathy is the ability to understand and share the feelings of another person, which helps us to be better friends.
- Inclusive behaviour means making sure that everyone is invited to join in, so nobody feels left out of games or group work.
- Active listening is a simple way to show kindness; by giving someone your full attention, you show that their voice truly matters.
- Small acts, such as holding a door or sharing a kind word, create a 'ripple effect' that makes our entire school a happier place to learn.

Did you know? Did you know? Research shows that performing an act of kindness triggers the release of 'feel-good' chemicals in the brain, such as dopamine. This means that when you are kind to someone else, you don't just make their day better—you actually make yourself feel happier too!
