

Zara's Colourful Diwali Rangoli

Celebrate the Festival of Lights with patterns and joy!

- Rangoli art is created by using bright colours to make beautiful patterns on the floor.
- Many Rangoli designs use symmetry, which means both sides of the pattern look exactly the same.
- Diwali is known as the Festival of Lights, and Rangoli helps to celebrate this happy time.
- Artists often draw shapes like circles, squares, or lotus flowers in their designs.
- You can use your favourite colours to make your own unique Rangoli pattern today!

Did you know? Did you know? During Diwali, families create Rangoli patterns on the floor near their front doors. They use bright powders, rice, or flower petals to welcome guests and bring good luck into their homes!

Key vocabulary: Rangoli · Symmetry · Diwali · Pattern · Festival · Colours