

Max’s Marvellous Fronted Adverbials Word Mat

Learning objective: To learn how to use fronted adverbials to add detail and interest to our sentences.

Key Vocabulary

Max the monkey is helping us write better sentences! Fronted adverbials are words or phrases at the start of a sentence that tell us when, where, or how something happens. Always remember to put a comma after your fronted adverbial! Use these categories to help you.

|                                             |                     |                      |
|---------------------------------------------|---------------------|----------------------|
| Max wants to star...                        | Which word from ... | Write a sentence ... |
| Why do we use a ... It is to show a pause.) |                     |                      |