

Remembering Together with Leo the Lion

Wear your poppy with pride and share a moment of quiet reflection.

- Remembrance Day is a special day in November when we think about people who kept us safe.
- Many people choose to wear a bright red poppy on their clothes to show they are remembering.
- We show respect by being very quiet and still for a short time, which we call a silence.
- Leo the Lion says that being kind and helping others is a wonderful way to show we care.
- It is a time to think about how we can all be friends and live in peace together.

Did you know? Did you know? The poppy is a special flower that grows in the fields after a long time. Because of this, it has become a symbol of hope and remembering people who have been very brave.
