

Nova’s Magnetic Word Mat

Learning objective: To learn and use scientific vocabulary related to magnets and forces.

Key Vocabulary

Use this word mat to help you with your science work. Read the words and their meanings below. Look at the categories to help you understand how magnets work.

|                                                        |                                    |                                                     |
|--------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| Nova wants to kn... What is a push or a pull... | If two magnets p... They... | Name one metal t... One magnetic metal is... |
| What do we call t... The two ends are called... |                                    |                                                     |