

Springtime Stories: The Easter Tradition

Hop into Spring with Ellie the Elephant to discover why we celebrate Easter!

- Easter is a spring festival that is celebrated by many people across the United Kingdom.
- Many families enjoy giving chocolate eggs as gifts to show kindness and friendship.
- The hot cross bun is a traditional spiced bread marked with a cross, often eaten during the Easter season.
- People often decorate eggs with bright colors and patterns to mark the arrival of spring.
- Spring is a time when the weather gets warmer and the days become longer for us to play outside.
- Ellie the Elephant remembers that Easter is a time for families to gather together and share stories.

Did you know? Did you know? In many parts of the world, Easter is celebrated in spring because it is a time when flowers begin to bloom, trees grow new leaves, and baby animals are born! This is why eggs are a special symbol of the season; they represent new life.
