

Pip's Story Adventure Book Review

Learning objective: To express preferences and opinions about a story, using descriptive language to recount events.

Help Pip the bookworm celebrate a great story! Read a book together, then use this template to share what you liked best. Encourage the child to think about their favorite character and the most exciting part of the plot.

Word bank: happy · exciting · funny · scary · adventure · favorite · character · ending

1. Book Title: What is the name of the story you read today?

2. My Favorite Character: Who was your favorite person or animal in the story and why?

3. Best Part: What was the most exciting thing that happened in the story?

4. How I Felt: Use a word from the word bank to describe how the story made you feel.

5. The Ending: Did you like how the story finished? Why or why not?

Extension challenge: Ask the child to imagine an alternative ending for the story. How would the characters behave if the ending was different? Draw a picture of your new ending on the back of this sheet.
