

Exploring Asia with Finn the Dolphin

Learning objective: To identify key geographical features, countries, and climates of the continent of Asia.

Use these flashcards to test your knowledge of Asia. Finn the Dolphin has been mapping the world and wants to see how much you have learned about this vast continent!

What is the largest continent in the world by land area?	Which famous mountain range, located in Asia, contains the highest peak in the world?
Asia	The Himalayas
True or False: Asia is home to more people than any other continent.	What is a large group of islands, like the country of Japan or the Philippines, called?
True	An archipelago
Which major ocean lies to the east of the Asian continent?	The Gobi Desert is a famous cold desert found in which two countries?
The Pacific Ocean	China and Mongolia
Which Asian country is known for having a very large population and the famous Taj Mahal?	What do we call a landform that is surrounded by water on three sides?
India	A peninsula
Does Asia have only one type of climate?	Which sea lies to the west of the Asian continent and separates it from Europe?
No, Asia has a huge variety of climates, including tropical, desert, and polar.	The Mediterranean Sea
What is the name of the capital city of Japan?	Finn the Dolphin is swimming near the equator. Is Asia located entirely in the Northern Hemisphere?
Tokyo	No, while most of Asia is in the Northern Hemisphere, some parts like Indonesia are in the Southern Hemisphere.