

Ellie's Ancient Egypt Expedition

Uncover the mysteries of the sands: Journey back in time with Ellie the Elephant!

- The River Nile was the lifeblood of Ancient Egypt; it provided water for irrigation and fertile silt for farming, allowing a great civilisation to flourish in the middle of a desert.
- Pharaohs were not just kings; they were considered to be living gods who held absolute power over all the people and land in Egypt.
- The Ancient Egyptians developed a unique writing system called hieroglyphics, which used hundreds of distinct symbols and pictures to represent sounds and ideas.
- Belief in the afterlife was central to their culture, leading to the creation of elaborate tombs and the mummification process to preserve bodies for eternity.
- Society was structured like a pyramid, with the Pharaoh at the very top, followed by nobles, priests, scribes, artisans, and finally, farmers and labourers.

Did you know? Did you know? Ancient Egyptians used a special type of paper made from the papyrus plant that grew along the banks of the River Nile. They would slice the stems, press them apart, and dry them to create sheets for writing their complex stories and records!

Key vocabulary: Pharaoh · Hieroglyphics · Sarcophagus · Papyrus · Civilisation · Irrigation · Afterlife · Dynasty