

How to Write a Brilliant Report with Kit the Fox

Get ready to discover the truth! Follow Kit's guide to write a report that is clear, factual, and fun.

- A good report always starts with a clear title to tell the reader what the subject is.
- Use subheadings to break your information into smaller, easy-to-read sections.
- Reports use formal language and present facts, not your own opinions or feelings.
- Pictures, diagrams, and maps help the reader understand your facts much better.
- Always include a caption under your pictures to explain what is happening in the image.

Did you know? Did you know? A non-chronological report does not have to be written in time order. You can write about the different parts of your subject in any order you like!
