- Collaboration is the foundation of any great team; it means working together towards a shared goal rather than focusing on individual glory.
- Tactics are the clever plans a team uses to outsmart their opponents, such as changing formations or passing patterns during a match.
- Communication involves listening to your teammates and using calm, encouraging words to help everyone stay focused during the game.
- Sportsmanship is showing respect to your teammates, the opposition, and the referee, regardless of the final score on the scoreboard.
- Resilience is the ability to keep trying your best even when the game is challenging or the score is not in your favour.

Did you know? Did you know? In almost every team sport, the most successful players are those who communicate effectively. Research shows that teams who use clear, positive verbal signals and hand gestures can react to changing game situations 30% faster than teams that play in silence!
