Join our friend Ellie the Elephant as she discovers how people celebrate the joy of Eid!

- Eid al-Fitr begins when the new crescent moon is spotted in the night sky.
- Families wake up early to wear their best clothes and go to the mosque for a special prayer.
- People give gifts or money to children and friends to show love and happiness.
- A very important part of Eid is Zakat al-Fitr, which is giving food or money to help people who are in need.
- It is a time for visiting family, eating delicious meals, and saying 'Eid Mubarak', which means 'Blessed Eid'.

Did you know? Did you know? Eid al-Fitr is often called the 'Festival of Breaking the Fast'. It marks the end of Ramadan, a holy month where many Muslims fast during the day to show discipline and kindness.
