

Kit’s Computing Companion: Mastering Databases

Learning objective: To understand, create, and interrogate databases using structured data fields and records.

Key Vocabulary

Kit the fox has organised this word mat into categories to help you understand how we store and retrieve information. Use these terms to design your own database projects.

|                       |                      |                                                |
|-----------------------|----------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| Explain why it is ... | Compare and con...   | Justify your ans... Why might you choose a ... |
| What might happ...    | If you were desig... | Describe a scenar...                           |