

Mastering the Discussion Text: A Guide for Young Debaters

Unfold the arguments, weigh the evidence, and craft a balanced perspective!

- How does the introduction serve to hook the reader while maintaining an objective tone about the issue at hand?
- Why is it essential to use formal, non-emotive language when presenting opposing arguments?
- In what way do causal conjunctions, such as 'consequently' or 'furthermore', help to link logical points within a paragraph?
- How can the use of a 'balanced conclusion' effectively summarise the debate without showing bias towards one perspective?
- Why must a writer ensure that both sides of an argument are given equal weight and supporting evidence?

Did you know? Did you know? A discussion text doesn't aim to persuade the reader to join one side, but rather invites them to consider multiple facets of a debate before forming their own informed opinion.

Key vocabulary: balanced · viewpoint · conjunction · formal tone · counter-argument · impartiality · conclusive · persuasive