

Autumn Science Word Mat: The Season of Change

Learning objective: To understand the biological and environmental changes that occur during the autumn season, focusing on plant life cycles and environmental adaptation.

Key Vocabulary

Explore these key scientific terms, categorised by how nature changes as we move towards winter. Use this mat to help you articulate your observations of the natural world.

|                     |                                                  |                     |
|---------------------|--------------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| Explain why deci... | Compare and con...                               | Justify why dec...  |
| What might happ...  | Nova the owl wo... 'If photosynthesis relies ... | Define 'senescen... |