

Learning About Amazing People: Black History Month Assessment

Learning objective: To recognise the contributions of Black historical figures and understand why we celebrate them.

Read each question carefully. Use the word bank to help you spell tricky words. If you need help, ask your teacher to read the question to you.

In October, we celebrate Black History Month. This is a time to learn about the lives and work of Black people who have done amazing things. These people helped make the world a better, fairer place for everyone. We look at their stories from the past and celebrate what they did.
