What is a portrait?

A portrait is a work of art that captures the likeness, personality, and mood of a specific person.

What do we call a portrait that an artist creates of themselves?

A self-portrait.

Define 'features' in the context of portraiture.

Features are the individual parts of a face, such as eyes, nose, mouth, and ears.

What does 'proportion' mean when drawing a face?

Proportion is the correct relationship in size between different parts of the face, ensuring they look realistic.

What is a 'profile' view?

A profile is a side view of a person's face.

What is the 'medium' in art?

The medium is the material used to create the artwork, such as pencils, charcoal, paint, or pastels.

Explain 'composition' in a portrait.

Composition is how the artist arranges the person and the objects within the frame of the artwork.

How does 'shading' help a portrait?

Shading adds depth and form by showing where light hits the face and where shadows fall.

What is an 'expression' in a portrait?

The expression is the look on the person's face, such as smiling, frowning, or looking thoughtful, which shows their emotion.

Why do artists consider the 'background' of a portrait?

The background helps to tell a story about the person or makes the subject stand out more clearly.

What is 'tone' in a drawing?

Tone refers to the lightness or darkness of a colour or a pencil mark, used to create 3D effects.

What is a rough, quick drawing used to plan a portrait called?

A sketch.
