

Building a Better Community with Max and Ellie

Learning objective: To understand the importance of community, identify the roles people play within it, and evaluate how individuals can contribute positively to their local area.

Use this writing scaffold to draft a persuasive piece about the impact of community spirit. Think about how Max (our maths-loving monkey) calculates the value of local projects, and how Ellie (our history-loving elephant) remembers the stories that connect neighbours together.

A community is far more than just a collection of houses; it is a vibrant tapestry woven together by the shared actions and kindness of every individual living there.
