

Building Stronger Relationships with Max and Ellie

Learning objective: To identify the qualities of healthy relationships and understand how to show kindness, empathy, and respect to others.

Use your creative skills to complete this relationship map. Read the questions carefully and use the word bank to help you label your drawing.

Draw: In the central space, draw a large, sturdy tree. Max the monkey is hanging from one branch, and Ellie the elephant is standing at the base. Around the tree, draw several large leaves. On each leaf, write one word from the word bank. Use bright colours to make the tree look inviting and friendly. Ensure the scene shows them working together as a team.

Label words: Trust · Active Listening · Empathy · Respect · Kindness · Honesty · Support

Steps:

1. Identify two qualities from the word bank that you think are most important for building trust in a friendship and explain why.
2. How does 'Active Listening' help to solve a disagreement between two friends?
3. Draw a speech bubble coming from Ellie the elephant. Write down one kind thing she could say to Max to show she is being supportive.
4. Label the different branches of your tree with three qualities from the word bank that help a friendship grow.

5. Give an example of how you can show 'Respect' to someone who has a different opinion to yours.
