Finn’s Asian Geography Discovery Cards

Learning objective: To identify key geographical features, countries, and facts about the continent of Asia.

Use these flashcards to test your knowledge of Asia! Finn the dolphin has travelled all the way from the oceans to explore this massive continent. Read the front of the card, think of the answer, then check if you are right.

What is the name of the largest continent on Earth?	Asia
True or False: Asia is home to the world's tallest mountain range, the Himalayas.	True
Which vast ocean borders the east coast of Asia?	The Pacific Ocean
What is the capital city of Japan, a famous island nation in Asia?	Tokyo
Asia is so large that it has many different types of weather and environments. What do we call the usual weather conditions in a place?	Climate
The Gobi is a famous, dry, and sandy environment found in Asia. What is this type of landscape called?	A desert
Which imaginary line passes through the southern part of Asia, meaning some Asian countries have a tropical climate?	The Equator
Asia is made up of many different countries. Can you name one country located in Asia?	Examples include China, India, Japan, Thailand, or Vietnam
What is the name of the river in China that is the longest in Asia?	The Yangtze River
Is Asia located in the Northern or Southern Hemisphere?	Most of Asia is in the Northern Hemisphere
Many people in Asia live in very busy, large cities. What is the word for a very large city?	A metropolis or city
Does Asia have a larger population than any other continent?	Yes, it has the largest population of any continent